2018 Annual Benefit Report
Make It Last, SBC

As stated in Make It Last's Articles of Incorporation, the specific benefit purpose for which Make It Last is organized is to reduce unnecessary divorce and enhance marriage.

In 2018, the following are ways in which Make It Last pursued reducing unnecessary divorce and enhancing marriage:

- Owners presented a message on Marriage, Divorce and Remarriage at their home church
- Owners were asked to provide the majority of the premarital coaching for their home church
 - Provided, and continue to provide, premarital coaching for several couples
- Continued to develop tool to digitally display family genogram, particularly useful for blended families.
 - Utilized concept when providing pre-marital counseling to blended families
 - Continued to employ two part-time programmers to develop the tool.
- Started development on a new digital tool to capture the day-to-day actions in a marriage which "add to" or "subtract from" marital satisfaction
- Ongoing discussions with organizations that have collected marriage data.
- Continued discussions and further deepened relationship with outside experts:
 - Marriage experts and researchers – Dr. George Kenworthy
 - Stepfamily expert – Ron Deal
- Continued refinement of algorithms to power the digital tools which will be used to reduce the divorce rate and enhance marriages
- Continued writing a scientific paper on premarital predictors of divorce
- Attended stepfamily conference and organizer continues to be interested in having owners speak at a future conference if we have a product to share
- Marketing initiatives–brainstormed several names for different digital tools, met with local organizations whose members/clients would benefit from digital tools
- New tools for reducing divorce and enhancing marriages under development

The two owners of Make It Last, Michael and Kristine Stensland, on average, were able to work on Make It Last activities around 50-60 hours/month.

While neither investor or grant funding have been secured as of yet, we have begun to generate revenue with the pre-marital coaching.

We certify the Board of Directors have reviewed and approved this report.

We are excited to dedicate more time to reducing divorce and enhancing marriages. If you have any questions about our annual report, please give Kristine a call at (507) 923-6105.
